Overview

Background

Anya Active is a local women's activewear brand founded in 2020. They offer sportswear that are well-fitting to align with their goals of encouraging its customers to "adopt an active lifestyle and embrace their body" (Her World Team, 2022). Anya Active provides activewears that are suitable for various sports activities including regular training, running, going for spin classes, yoga, and pilates (Anya Active, 2025). Moreover, they provide a wide range of sizes from extra-small (XS) to 3 sizes above extra-large (3XL) to cater to all body types. Due to their success, they expanded their business to Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia with 3 outlets.

Customer Persona

According to Anya Active's official website, they aim to target:

- Women who engages in regular training, running, spin, yoga, and pilates
- Plus-size women
- Women who enjoys wearing comfortable activewear

Product & Pricing Strategy

Anya Active is currently using the product strategy of market penetration with reference of its most popular product, Pocket Shorts Mini 4". Using the Ansoff Matrix (refer to Figure 1.2), Anya Active focuses on fine-tuning an existing product like the biker shorts which is popular among active users, to an existing market. The Pocket Shorts Mini 4" aligns with Anya Active's customer needs and preferences as their fabric used are thicker and more supportive with medium compression which aligns with their target audience key motivation, comfort. Furthermore, they strongly focus on functionality and uniqueness by adding 2 side pockets which sets them apart from their competitors. Based on an article (Hanover Research, 2023), it is important for businesses to understand its target market when adopting the market penetration strategy. It can be seen that Anya Active conducted a thorough research into their target market and understood their customer's pain points when evaluating their product offerings.

Anya Active's Pocket Shorts Mini 4" costs SGD 58 for all colours and sizes. According to research (Edwards, D., 2024), the Pocket Shorts Mini 4" uses value-based pricing as the price is based on the perceived value to customers. Since Anya Active's target audience focuses on the product's level of comfort, it is recommended for Anya Active to price their products based on how valuable its customers find it.

Compared to its local competitors, Moving Peach is selling its shorts at an average of SGD 20 (Shopee, 2025) while Cheak is selling its shorts at SGD 65 (Cheak, 2025). Based on the comparison with its local competitors such as Moving Peach and Cheak (refer to Figure 1.3), Anya Active is perceived as a medium to high quality brand with an affordable pricing. Thus, Anya Active's value-based pricing strategy works well for them as they understood their target market and came up products that customers think they are worth it.

Distribution Strategy

Anya Active adopts the direct distribution strategy where they sell their products directly to the consumer through owned channels such as:

- E-commerce website
- Company-owned stores (in Singapore and Malaysia)

According to further research (LaceUp Solutions, 2025), business that adopts direct distribution strategy often has full control over pricing, branding, and customer experience. Additionally, they have direct relationship with their customers which is valuable for feedback and loyalty. It can be seen that Anya Active created a sense of community for its customers to feel that they are heard and seen when making purchases directly from them through their e-commerce website. This contributes to the development of a solid customer relationship.

PESTLE Analysis

Based on research (Ogunkoya, O, J., 2023), it is crucial to understand the external influences that can impact Anya Active's operations and strategy. According to Anya Active's overseas business in Malaysia (refer to Appendix 1), the organisation's performance and competitiveness can be mainly impacted by international trade policies, exchange rates, cultural barriers, online payment gateway, copyright protection, as well as environmental policies. Since both Singapore and Malaysia are part of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN), it is easier for Anya Active to expand their businesses to Malaysia with free flow of goods, services, investments, capital, and labour.

Digital Assets Analysis

Company Website

A company's website is important to the organisation as it is the primary owned media that helps its target audience to learn more about the company, products, and make purchases. Anya Active has a strong online presence as compared to its local competitors.

The website focuses on product content with detailed descriptions, sizing guide, and customer reviews. Moreover, there are contents that oriented towards different body types by including size charts (refer to Figure 2.1) which aligns with Anya Active's positioning around body inclusivity.

These call-to-action (CTA) buttons stays at the bottom right of the website throughout every page. With a direct button that leads customers to WhatsApp, it ensures that customers can easily reach out for customer support. The Rewards button constantly reminds customers that Anya Active has a reward system when customers sign up for membership. Hence, the CTA button also acts as a form of promotion to their membership programme.

Additionally, Anya Active's website is easy to navigate as there are standard e-commerce assets such as product pages, shopping cart, and a search feature. In order to ensure that their website is user-friendly for new visitors, they included sections like "New Arrivals" and "Best-sellers" (refer to Figure 2.2 and 2.3) so that customers can also purchase their most popular products.

Anya Active distinguish themselves as minimalistic lifestyle brand. They used monotone colours like black for their logo and grey as their website's background colour. Although it is unclear which typography is used on Anya Active's website, the typography used gives clarity and boost readability for customers.

As seen in Figure 2.5 and 2.6, Anya Active has a strong storytelling assets with the use of female models in their images that empowers women to live a healthy lifestyle and support them in various sports activities. By casting female models of all colours and sizes, it also reinforces inclusivity and creates a unique brand identity for Anya Active. Furthermore, the images used generally filled with bold colours to set the vibrant and energised mood when working out.

The visual assets show that the brand caters to women and constantly encourage and support women to be active by showcasing customers wearing their products while engaging in all kinds of sports as shown in Figure 2.7. Those are user generated images and they provide a sense of community to their customers.

Recommendation

Based on Figure 2.8 below, it is strongly recommended that Anya Active should be consistent with their product images to avoid confusion to users. As models are also wearing other apparels from the brand, customers may mistake the products Anya Active is trying to promote at each section.

Social Media Platforms

Anya Active promotes their products through 3 social media platforms:

1. Instagram

As Instagram has post, story, and short video functions, Anya Active promotes their new products and events there. Despite having a minimalistic and clean profile, Anya Active has 31.3k followers. Visitors who stumble upon Anya Active's Instagram page can also understand more about their business and products as they stated the locations of their physical stores as well as their fabric guide as shown below.

2. TikTok

Anya Active has 1765 followers on TikTok as they are rarely active on TikTok. Their contents uploaded are mainly customers engaging in activities while wearing their apparels. TikTok is a great way to reach a larger target audience as the TikTok algorithm is a system that suggests content for each user based on their viewing habits and preferences. Overtime, the kinds of content that are recommended will change accordingly (Sheikh, 2024).

3. Facebook

Similarly to Instagram, Anya Active is very active on Facebook with 1.1k followers. There are more information about the company on Facebook including email, website link, average price range, and reviews. Research has shown that Facebook users in Malaysia in February 2024 accounted for 86.7% of its entire population (NapoleonCat, 2024). Hence, it is great that Anya Active promotes their brand through Facebook since they expanded their business to Malaysia.

Recommendation

1. Instagram

It is highly recommended that Anya Active should include their website link on their profile to encourage visitors who are interested in their products to browse and learn more about them through their website.

2. TikTok

Anya Active should research on trends in the industry and create video contents that may have higher chance of going viral to gain awareness to their target audience every week.

3. Facebook

It is strongly suggested that Anya Active should maximise the functions on Facebook such as live streaming and promoting their products to reach a wider audience while making it engaging for users.

Blog Content

At the footer of Anya Active's website, there is a button that leads users to their blog which contains various information including activewear care and tips on wellness and balance in life. Having a blog on Anya Active website can generally gain knowledge and trust as customers will feel that the company understands them and are addressing their problems by offering helpful solutions.

Recommendation

As shown in Figure 4.1, there are only 4 blogs in total since 2020. It is highly recommended for Anya Active to continuously upload new blogs every month to keep their users engaged while making them revisit Anya Active's website. This can help boost user engagement and increase user return rate in the long run.

Online Reviews & Testimonials

Most e-commerce businesses generally include a review section to gain trust from customers. However, people often doubt whether the reviews and testimonials are truly authentic. In order for Anya Active to become a trustable brand, it is compulsory for buyers to verify themselves before leaving a review as shown in Figure 5.1.

Under the review section, Anya Active also included the buyers' body measurements for potential buyers to refer to these reviews and hear from people who have similar body types. This can strengthen the community while gaining trust from potential buyers.

Recommendation

Although the reviews and testimonials section is extremely user-friendly, Anya Active can consider adding a comment section on each review so that buyers can communicate with each other and discuss about the products. This can further strengthen the community bond and also boost potential buying rate.

Conclusion

Overall, this analysis shows that Anya Active displays a strong online presence with a strong brand identity despite being a relatively young company. It has a remarkable website that is user-friendly and addresses many user pain points such as difficulty reaching customer support and an overloaded home page that is confusing to navigate. It can also be seen that each digital asset are designed with careful thoughts as their customers are a high priority. Hence, it is important for businesses to focus on building an online platform that is engaging, user-friendly, and easy to navigate in order to gain a solid customer base.
